Curriculum Overview

Science & Technology Excellence Program: STEP

The aim of the STEP program is to develop students' proficiency in English, as well as in science, engineering, technology, and mathematics. The program eagerly prepares students for the future world by equipping them with the ability to communicate in four languages: English, Thai, Chinese, and coding. All subjects, except Thai and Chinese, are taught in English by foreign teachers who are experts in their respective fields.

The program emphasizes science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM education) through a teaching and learning process that promotes active learning. It aims to develop students' thinking and problem-solving skills, while also cultivating a rational and creative mindset. Additionally, it encourages students to be the creators of their own knowledge, leading them to international excellence and high academic standards, and enabling them to become successful Thai and global citizens.
